II. 2 INSRIPTIONAL EVIDENCE FOR THE RELATIVE CHRONOLOGY OF DYN. 0–2

Jochem Kahl

Sources

Contemporaneous king-lists intended as historical records are not at our disposal for reconstructing the chronology of the earliest dynasties nor for establishing the order of the kings. That such lists existed is shown by the Royal Annals. The only contemporaneous sources are of a different nature, viz. a) kings’ names inscribed on ritual or festival vessels or on administrative seals (and in one case, on a non-royal statue), useful in reconstructing the succession of kings; b) administrative labels citing eponymous events of specific years and stone vessels inscribed with festival notes which aid in determining the length of reigns. Later sources used for this study are restricted to the OK. It must be borne in mind that all sources, whether contemporaneous or later, may contain scribal errors,\(^1\) and that some, such as the Royal Annals, were subject to ideological influence.

Kings before Nar-mer

The earliest writing from Egypt preserves the names of several rulers who preceded Nar-mer, here considered the first king of Dyn. 1.\(^2\) Two

\(^1\) I would like to thank Eva-Maria Engel and Barbara Kneißler for information and for help in preparing the documents.

\(^3\) E.g. the labels Petrie, RT I, pl. 15: 16–17 where the meaning of the eponymous event was misunderstood—see G. Dreyer et al., “Umm el-Qaab, Nachuntersuchungen im frühzeitlichen Königsfriedhof, 11./12. Vorbericht,” MDAIK 56 (2000), 116 n. b; or, for the reign of Den, an entry in the Annals (Cairo Fragment 5, recto, lower part, 5) mentioning the planning (?) of a building which must have been erected under Djer, cf. Wilkinson, Annals, 246–247.

\(^4\) Recent scholarship favours Narmer over ‘Aha for the role of Menes, first king of of them are documented in the necropolis of This at Umm el-Qaab, Abydos: Iry-Hor and Sekhen/Ka. \(^5\) Archaeological evidence makes Sekhen/Ka the predecessor of Nar-mer and thus a successor of Iry-Hor. \(^6\) The presence of the element Hor in the name Iry-Hor can be cited in support of this interpretation, since the names of some other “kings” attested before Nar-mer also include the god’s name: Ny-Hor, Hat-Hor, and Pe-Hor. These “kings,” as well as some others, are presumed to have been local rulers or rulers who opposed the Thinite elite. Information for determining the chronological relationship of these rulers is provided solely by archaeological evidence. \(^7\) The following names are attested:

- Ny-Hor, at Tura \(^8\)
- Hat-Hor, at Tarkhan \(^9\)
- “Trio” (three circles surmounting vertical strokes), from the eastern Delta, \(^10\) and perhaps also at Tura \(^11\)
- Pe-Hor (alternatively read Iry-Hor and thus assignable to him), at Qustul \(^12\)
- Ny-Neit(?), at Helwan \(^13\)
- “Crocodile”, at Tarkhan \(^14\)
- “Bird and vertical sign”, at Tarkhan \(^15\)

\(^5\) Both readings are possible; see Kahl, System, 38–40.

"Scorpion", at Hierakonpolis, a ruler with an obscure name, at Buto.

Not included in this list is a group of signs consisting of two falcons on a serekh ("Double Falcon"), known from Abydos, Tura, Beda, and the Sinai. Whether it represents a king's name or is symbolic of royal authority per se, remains open. Several groups of signs on labels and in inscriptions on vessels from Tomb U-j at Umm el-Qaab, as well as signs on the Min colossi from Coptos, on the Libya Palette and on some other small finds, have been understood as kings' names. But this interpretation is problematic. The groups may be place names and/or the names of gods instead.

Nar-mer to Qa-a: The Succession

Inscriptions preserved in seal impressions and on stone vessels have established a highly reliable model for the succession during Dyn. 1. Impressions of two different seals associated with the administration of the necropolis were found in the royal cemetery of Umm el-Qaab, Abydos. Both seals listed kings who were buried there. One dates from the time of Den or "Adj-ib (Doc. 1); the other is temp. Qa-a or Hetepsekhemwy (Doc. 2). According to Werner Kaiser, whose interpretation... is followed here, the metal cylinder seal used to make the impressions subsumed under Doc. 1 was cut during the reign of Den and altered after his death.22 This accounts for the unsymmetrical sequence of kings’ Horus names (written without serekhs)23 and the name of the god Khent-imenty. The royal names are arranged from left to right: Nar-mer—‘Aha—Djer—“Serpent”—Den—Meret-neit. (The sequence Djer—“Serpent”—is confirmed by Doc. 3, see infra.). Social, rather than chronological reasons dictated that Meret-neit follows Den; as king’s mother, her status was lower than her son’s.24 This interpretation is supported by the material (limestone)25 of the stelae for her tomb at Umm el-Qaab and by seal impressions found there which are closer to those from the time of “Serpent” than to those temp. ‘Adj-ib.26 That Meret-neit is presumed to have served as regent for her son accounts for her burial among the kings at Umm el-Qaab.27 Accordingly, the chronological order should be Nar-mer—‘Aha—Djer—“Serpent”—Meret-neit—Den.

Several impressions from sealings of leather bags facilitated the reconstruction of a second cylinder seal, Doc. 2. Its design is similar to that of Doc. 1. Again, there are no serekhs. The sequence of kings’ names from Nar-mer to Qa‘a is reversed, with mention of Khent-imenty, perhaps as tutelary deity of the necropolis.28 Meret-neit is omitted, probably because of her lower status.29 The royal names, arranged from left to right, are: Qa‘a—Semer-khet—‘Adj-ib—Den—“Serpent”—Djer—‘Aha—Nar-mer.

Inscriptions on stone vessels corroborate the succession Den—‘Adj-ib—Semer-khet—Qa‘a (Docs. 4–8) or segments of it (Docs. 9–13, 15–17). Paleographical analysis shows that kings’ names were added from reign to reign. Sometimes ‘Adj-ib’s name was erased (Docs. 10–11; cf. Doc. 15). Only a few of the inscriptions on these vessels use Horus names; in most cases they mention instead the nsw bjt nb.tj title + name.30 Because other contemporaneous inscriptions give both names of a king, it is possible to equate Horus Den with nsw-bjt Khasty,31 Horus 'Adj-ib with nsw bjt nb.tj Mer-pi-bia,32 Horus Semerkhet with nsw bjt nb.tj Iry-netjer33 and also with a second unreadable nsw bjt nb.tj name,34 and, finally, Horus Qa-'a with nsw bjt nb.tj Sen,35 nsw bjt nb.tj Sehetep36 and nsw bjt nb.tj Qa-'a.37

The three nsw bjt nb.tj names of Qa-'a can be interpreted as indicative of chronologically different periods of his reign. According to this proposal, Sen is the oldest of the three. On year labels of Qa-'a,38 Sen is associated with the official Henu-ka39 who is documented under Qa-'a’s predecessor Semer-khet.40 The nsw bjt nb.tj name Sen and the official Henu-ka are both mentioned in connection with a “Sixth Occasion of Inspection”; another document citing the same event mentions the nsw bjt nb.tj Sehetep.41 Therefore, Sehetep will have replaced

Sen in that year. The "Sixth Occasion of Inspection" could not have taken place before the king's sixth year.⁴² The new nsw hjt nb.tj name Qa-‘a for the king is the youngest because it is associated with his sed-festivals.⁴³

The style and content of inscriptions attesting two enigmatic kings (Horus Senefer-ka⁴⁴ and Horus "Bird")⁴⁵ date them to the time of Qa-‘a or slightly later.⁴⁶ Three explanations are possible: (a) Senefer-ka and "Bird" were rivals of Qa-‘a. At the beginning of his reign, Qa-‘a had the "peaceful" name Sen, "the one who fraternizes." The change to Sehetep, "the one who pacifies" and to Qa-‘a "the one with raised arm" reflect political developments, viz. Qa-‘a opposition to and eventual victory over two opponents. This alternative is favoured here. (b) The names Senefer-ka and "Bird" are also names of Qa-‘a; i.e., he also changed his Horus name in the course of his reign.⁴⁷ (c) The names belong to rulers who reigned after Qa-‘a died. The brevity of their reigns did not permit either to arrange for Qa-‘a’s burial nor were any seals cut. Seal impressions found in Tomb Q at Umm el-Qaab leave no doubt that Hetep-sekhemwy buried Qa-‘a there.⁴⁸

Evidence for the Lengths of Reigns during Dyn. 1

During the Early Dynastic Period a regnal year was not numbered but identified by one or more specific significant events occurring in its course.⁴⁹ This is inferred from the existence of different names for the same year in contemporaneous sources (labels and stone vessels) and confirmed by the information provided by the Royal Annals. Perhaps the use of more than one event resulted from the necessity to "name" a year when it began, at a time when only scheduled festivals and ritual or cultic events could be selected to identify the year. At year’s end, events unforeseen at its beginning, such as expeditions or campaigns, could have been chosen and cited retrospectively.\(^50\) In general, isolated eponymous events are unsuitable for determining the sequence of regnal years, by contrast to \textit{sed} festivals and other recurring events. Even if \textit{sed} festivals were celebrated for the first time before regnal year 30,\(^31\) mention of one suggests a point later, rather than earlier in a given reign. A \textit{sed} festival is documented for Den\(^52\) and ‘Adj-ib;\(^53\) Qa-‘a celebrated a second.\(^54\) Other eponymous events which took place repeatedly are also suggestive of a long reign. Examples are the “Sixth Inspection” mentioned above and a “Second Running of Apis” during the reign of Qa-‘a.\(^55\) However, it is not known whether these events occurred at regular intervals. Thus they provide only a vague idea of reign length at best.

The Royal Annals, which survive on fragments in Palermo, Cairo and London,\(^56\) list entries for every year of Semer-khet’s reign (cf. infra). For other kings, only some years are preserved.

Den: $x+6+y$ years (middle of his reign)\textsuperscript{61} and highly probably $x+14+y$ years (later years of his reign)\textsuperscript{62}

‘Adj-ib: $x+2$ years (end of his reign)\textsuperscript{63}

Semer-khet: 9 years (his complete reign)\textsuperscript{64}

Qa-‘a: 2+y years (beginning of his reign)\textsuperscript{65}

Reconstructions of the Annals differ widely and must be considered highly speculative. Here statements about hypothetical reign lengths are disregarded.\textsuperscript{66} The possibility cannot be ignored that Nar-mer’s reign was also recorded in the annals, especially now following on the discovery of a label at Umm el-Qa’ab citing one of his years.\textsuperscript{67}

The sequence of three Dyn. 2 kings is secure: Hetep-sekhemwy, who buried Qa-‘a at Umm el-Qaab—Ra‘-neb—Ny-netjer. The inscription on the shoulder of CG 1 (Doc. 18), a statue depicting a kneeling man (presumably a priest), lists these Horus names in that order. Additional support for the sequence is provided by inscriptions on stone vessels in different hands mentioning Hetep-sekhemwy and Ra‘-neb (Docs. 19, 20). In an inscription mentioning the ka-house of Hetep-sekhemwy on another stone vessel from the Step Pyramid (Doc. 21), the name Ny-netjer is written over an erased name. This document, along with the inscribed fragment of a stone vessel from the tomb of Per-ibsen (Doc. 22), substantiates the sequence on the statue Doc. 18. (During Ny-netjer’s reign, Ra‘-neb’s name was erased several times; see Doc. 20, 21 (?), 22.)

nses bjt nb.tj Weneg is attested only by inscriptions on stone vessels found in the Step Pyramid and in Tomb S 3014. Weneg’s exact position, as well as the identification of his Horus name among those known, has remained open until now. A long-known inscription from Tomb P at Umm el-Qaab (Doc. 22) provides the key to solving some of the problems associated with Weneg. In the inscription the nses bjt nb.tj name Ny-netjer faces the opposite direction from the name of Ra‘-neb and that of his palace (Fig. II. 2.1). Ra‘-neb’s name is partially erased.

68 Here and below the Horus name Netjery-khet is used to identify the first king of Dynasty 3, in preference to Djoser, since the latter is not documented in contemporaneous texts.
69 See n. 48, above.
71 A stone vessel inscribed with the names of Qa-‘a and Ra‘-neb (Kaplony, Steingefässe, 34–38 (16), pl. 5: 22) does not help to reconstruct the order of these kings.
74 Helck, Thinitenzeit, 103, proposed to identify him with the enigmatic Horus Sa, known from the mention of his ka-house in inscriptions on stone vessels from the Step Pyramid; cf. Lauer, Pyramide V, 7–8, pls. 6–7; Helck, “Die Datierung der Gefässaufschriften aus der Djoserpyramide,” ZAS 106 (1979), 124.
75 See the excellent photo published in the exhibition catalogue Kemet alla sorgenti del tempo, A. M. Donadoni Roveri & F. Tiradritti, eds. (Milan, 1998), 251.
Scrutiny of the inscription reveals that the name Ny-netjer is written over Weneg. Traces of the plant sign used to write Weneg are discernible, as are the enigmatic strokes to the upper left and right of it (Fig. II. 2.2) which are also attested in another of his inscriptions.76 Thus Ny-netjer must have been Weneg’s successor, and the original inscription referred to the palace of Horus Ra-neb and to nsw bjt nb.tj Weneg. Therefore the Horus name of nsw bjt nb.tj Weneg should be Ra-neb.

nsw bjt nb.tj Nub-nefer is attested only on two stone vessels from the Step Pyramid (Docs. 23, 24).77 Both inscriptions mention him in connection with a building called Hwt-mn.t- nh. Another stone-vessel inscription associates this structure with the Gold name Ren.78 The Palermo

Stone gives Ren as Ny-netjer's Gold name. Nub-nefer's reign should therefore be in proximity to Ny-netjer's. Currently there are two options for his dynastic position. Either Nub-nefer was Ra'-neb's nsw bjt nb.tj name or he was an ephemeral ruler who occupied the throne briefly after Ny-netjer's death. The evidence just presented for identifying Weneg as Ra'-neb's nsw bjt nb.tj name shows that the second alternative is correct. Kaiser's suggestion that nsw bjt Sened was the last king to reign over UE and LE before Kha-sekhemwy is very plausible. Circumstantial evidence for this sequence is the survival of the funerary cult of Sened into Dyn. 4. nsw bjt Sened or nsw bjt nb.tj Nub-nefer might be identical with Horus Sa, who is known from the mention of his ka-house in inscriptions on stone vessels from the Step Pyramid.\(^84\)

It is not clear whether the next two names—Horus Sekhem-ib and Seth Per-ibsen—belonged to a single ruler or to two different kings. Per-ibsen certainly claimed to rule over all of Egypt,\(^85\) but the sources do not confirm this. Contemporaneous evidence for Seth Per-ibsen is restricted to UE between Elephantine and Beit Khallaf, just north of Abydos,\(^86\) except for his funerary cult in association with nsw bjt Sened at Saqqara.\(^87\) Sekhem-ib is attested at Abydos and Saqqara. Seal impressions mentioning Sekhem-ib come from the tomb of Per-ibsen, while at Saqqara, stone vessels with Sekhem-ib’s name were found in the Step Pyramid. But this does not prove that Sekhem-ib exercised influence in the Memphite region, since these vessels could have been brought to Saqqara from Abydos after Sekhem-ib’s death. Theories about the relationship between the names Sekhem-ib and Per-ibsen\(^88\) suggest that (a) Sekhem-ib and Per-ibsen were names borne simultaneously by a single king;\(^89\) (b) Horus Sekhem-ib was the older name of Seth Per-ibsen;\(^90\) (c) Horus Sekhem-ib buried Seth Per-ibsen and was thus his successor.\(^91\) Down to the present there is no compelling argument favouring one alternative over the others.

The last king of Dyn. 2 was Horus-Seth Kha-sekhemwy. His power base seems to have been Hierakonpolis where he is attested as victor over northern enemies under the name Horus Kha-sekhemwy.\(^92\)

\(^{87}\) In the tomb of Shery, see note 83, above. Kaiser considers dynastic and political reasons that might have led to the institution of Per-ibsen’s cult under Kha-sekhemwy.

later in his reign, Kha-sekhem took the Horus-Seth name Kha-sekhemwy to demonstrate that peace and harmony had been restored through his actions. Considerable circumstantial evidence exists for Horus Netjery-khet as the successor of Kha-sekhemwy: (a) a seal with the names of officials used once together with a seal of Kha-sekhemwy and then with a seal of Netjery-khet (Doc. 25); (b) Ny-maat-Hep, mother of the royal children and king’s mother (of Netjery-khet) is attested on seal impressions in Kha-sekhemwy’s tomb at Umm el-Qaab as well as in Tomb K1 at Beit Khallaf (Doc. 26a–b); (c) many seal impressions naming Netjery-khet which come from Kha-sekhemwy’s tomb.

Seth Per-ibsen: nsw bjt/nsw bjt nb.tj Per-ibsen
The Lengths of the Reigns of Dyn. 2-kings

Contemporaneous sources yield comparatively little information about the duration of reigns during Dyn. 2. Some stone vessels from the Step Pyramid bear inscriptions citing specific events. One of them mentions the “Fourth Occasion of the Sokar Festival” (probably year 24), another, the “Seventeenth Occasion (of the cattle count)” (probably year 34). These dates have been ascribed to Ny-netjer, since he seems to have been the only ruler of the dynasty to have reigned more than 30 years. For the same reason, inscriptions mentioning a sed festival are thought to refer to him. The Annals preserve information about three kings of Dyn. 2: Ny-netjer, years 6–21 and perhaps x + 9 years at the end of his reign; Per-ibsen, 6 + y years from the beginning of his reign; Kha-sekhemwy, perhaps years 3–6 and most probably years 12–18 towards the end of his reign.

Doc. 10 fragment of a rock crystal bowl
Dyn. 1, reign of Den, with added inscriptions of ‘Adj-ib and Semer-khet
London, BM EA 49278
Prov.: Umm el-Qaab, Tomb T
Comment: Mer-pi-bia, originally incised near the name Khasty (untouched), was erased and replaced by Iry-netjer, documenting the sequence Khasty, Mer-pi-bia, Iry-netjer.

Doc. 11 fragment of a stone vessel
Dyn. 1, reign of Den, with added inscriptions of ‘Adj-ib and Semer-khet
Doc. 12 fragment of a quartz-crystal bowl
Dyn. 1, reign of Den, with added inscription of 'Adj-ib
Philadelphia, Univ. Mus. E 06847
Prov.: Umm el-Qaab, Tomb U
Comment: The names Khasty and Mer-[pi]-bia are incised on the fragment.

Doc. 13 fragment of a red limestone bowl
Dyn. 1, reign of Den, with added inscription of 'Adj-ib
Cairo, Egyptian Museum JE 34378
Prov.: Umm el-Qaab, Tomb T
Comment: The vessel may have originally shown more names than Khasty and Mer-pi-bia.
Bibliography: Petrie, RT I, 19, 38–39, pl. 5: 12.

Doc. 14 three adjoining fragments of a calcite vessel
Dyn. 1, reign of Den with added inscription of 'Adj-ib
London, BM EA 32659
Prov: Umm el-Qaab, Tomb X or Z
Comment: 'Adj-ib's Horus name is written in front of the nsw bjt name Khasty.
Bibliography: Petrie, RT I, 19, 38, pl. 5: 11; Spencer, Objects, 41 (268), pl. 25: 268.

Doc. 15 three adjoining fragments of a schist bowl
Dyn. 1, prior to the reign of Semer-khet, with inscriptions added naming Semer-khet and Qa-'a 113 Cf. Spencer, Objects, 41 (268).

Cairo, Egyptian Museum JE 55268 (one fragment only)
Prov.: Saqqara, Step Pyramid, outside Galleries H and B

Comment: The field in the serekh has been cut down, i.e. the name Semer-khet has been substituted for another.

Doc. 16  part of a schist bowl
Dyn. 1, reign of ‘Adj-ib, with added inscription of Qa-‘a
Prov.: Saqqara, Step Pyramid, Great South Court

Comment: The two nsw bjt nb.tj names incised on the vessel are Mer-pi-bia and Qa-‘a; Iry-netjer was not mentioned.
Bibliography: Lauer, Pyramide IV.1, pl. 8: 36; IV.2, 21 (36).

Doc. 17  schist bowl
Dyn. 1, reign of Semer-khet with added inscription of Qa-‘a
Cairo, Egyptian Museum JE 88344
Prov.: Saqqara, Step Pyramid, Gallery B

Comment: The treatment of the serekhs shows very well that different hands inscribed the two Horus names Semer-khet and Qa-‘a.

Doc. 18  granite statue of a kneeling man
Dyn. 2 or 3
Cairo, Egyptian Museum CG 1
Prov.: Mit Rahineh

Comment: The sign preceding the names Hetep-sekhemwy, Ra-‘neb and Ny-netjer incised in that order on the right shoulder blade of the figure has been interpreted to read divine ancestor (Helck), falcon (Fischer), or phoenix (Moret).
Doc. 19 diorite bowl
Dyn. 2, reign of Hetep-sekhemwy, with added inscription of Ra-neb
Cairo, Egyptian Museum JE 65413
Prov.: Saqqara, Step Pyramid, Gallery H
Comment: The Horus names of Hetep-sekhemwy and Ra-neb, incised by different hands, face the goddess Bastet.

Doc. 20 flint bowl
Dyn. 2, reign of Hetep-sekhemwy (or earlier) with inscriptions naming Hetep-sekhemwy and Ra-neb
Cairo, Egyptian Museum JE 41981
Prov.: Giza, Valley Temple of Mycerinus
Comment: Both Horus names, incised by different hands, face the goddess Bastet. Hetep-sekhemwy is incised over an erasure, while Ra-neb, partially erased, is written behind Hetep-sekhemwy. Reisner argued that Ra-neb was succeeded by Hetep-sekhemwy on the basis of the partial erasure of Ra-neb’s name, but Docs. 21 and 22 show that Ra-neb was Hetep-sekhemwy’s successor.

Doc. 21 footed schist bowl
Dyn. 2, reign of Hetep-sekhemwy or Ra-neb, with added inscription of Ny-netjer.
Prov.: Saqqara, Step Pyramid, Gallery B
Comment: The bowl provides evidence for the reign of Ny-netjer being later than that of Hetep-sekhemwy. A reference to the “ka-house of Horus Hetep-sekhemwy” follows the name Ny-netjer. As Lacau and Lauer noted, Ny-netjer could have been substituted for the name of another king (Hetep-sekhemwy or Ra-neb.)
Bibliography: Lauer, Pyramide IV.1, pl. 15: 74; IV.2, 36 (74); Helck, Thinitenzeit 195–196.
Doc. 22  fragment from the rim of a bowl of volcanic ash
Dyn. 2, reign of Ra'neb, with added inscription of Ny-netjer
London, BM EA 35556
Prov.: Umm el-Qaab, Tomb P
Comment: See Pp. 102–103, above

Doc. 23  fragment of a schist bowl
Dyn. 2, reign of Ny-netjer or slightly later
Cairo, Egyptian Museum JE 55268
Prov.: Saqqara, Step Pyramid, outside Galleries H and B
Comment: nsw bjt Nub-nefer is mentioned in connection with the building Hwt-mn.t-nh, also attested from the reign of Ny-netjer.
Bibliography: Lauer, Pyramide IV.1, 6, pl. VI: 3; IV.2, 48–49.

Doc. 24  fragment from the rim of a schist bowl
Dyn. 2, reign of Ny-netjer or slightly later
Cairo, Egyptian Museum JE 55294
Prov.: Saqqara, Step Pyramid, outside Galleries H and B
Comment: nsw bjt Nub-nefer is mentioned in connection with the building hwt-mn.t-nh; cf. Doc. 23.
Bibliography: Lauer, Pyramide IV.1, 6, pl. VI: 3; IV.2, 48–49.

Doc. 25  clay seal impressions
Dyn. 2, reign of Kha-sekhemwy
Prov.: Abydos, Shunet ez-Zebib
Comment: The seal (Kaplony, Inschriften III, fig. 346) with names of officials, which made these impressions was used in tandem with a seal of Kha-sekhemwy as well as with another naming Netjery-khet; cf. P. 106, above.
Doc. 26a  clay seal impressions

Dyn. 2 or 3, reign of Kha-sekhemwy or Netjery-khet
Cairo, Egyptian Museum CG 11106–112, 11143, 11145; Châteaudun 38(2) (no. assigned by Kaplony); Paris, Louvre no no.; Toronto, ROM B 2324; London, UC 92(2), 95, 96 (nos. assigned by Kaplony); Abydos (cf. Dreyer, infra)
Prov.: Umm el-Qaab; Tomb V

Comment: These impressions from the tomb of Kha-sekhemwy mention Queen Ny-maat-Hep as mother of the royal children.
Bibliography: Kaplony, Inschriften I, 161; II, 855 (983), 1137 (325); III, fig. 325; Dreyer, Stationen (see n. 95 above), 33.

Doc. 26b  clay seal impressions

Dyn. 3, reign of Netjery-khet
London, UC 149–52 (nos. assigned by Kaplony)
Prov.: Beit Khallaf, Tomb K1

Comment: These impressions from a tomb dating to the reign of Netjery-khet name Queen Ny-maat-Hep as king’s mother. Therefore one can conclude for a sequence Kha-sekhemwy—Netjery-khet.
Bibliography: Kaplony, Inschriften I, 167; II, 873 (1070), 1137 (326); III, fig. 326.
